EDUCATION

University Ilorin

I am currently an undergraduate student at the University of Ilorin, where I am pursuing my degree with dedication and a strong interest in expanding my knowledge and skills in my chosen field of study.

EXPERIENCE

2024 - 2025

I recently completed a comprehensive training program in front-end web development, where I gained solid experience in building responsive and interactive websites. Throughout the program, I worked on several real-world projects that helped me sharpen my skills in HTML, CSS, JavaScript, and front-end frameworks such as React. These projects allowed me to apply best practices in UI/UX design, performance optimization, and cross-browser compatibility. I'm passionate about creating clean, user-centered web interfaces and constantly seek opportunities to grow and stay updated with the latest web technologies. As a recent graduate and a highly motivated learner, I'm eager to contribute to impactful web projects and continue building my career as a front-end developer.
